

Pages (from Dashboard) and Pages (Appearance → Edit → Pages)

This bit is about created pages that only show up from one access point, and not from the other. In the past they did show up.

1. This is what shows now when following Appearance → Edit → Pages

Pages created under Dashboard → Pages do show up here.

In the past the list of pages showed in the black column. Now some hierarchy displays. The white column in the middle now shows the pages listed, and the active page in the right column (not in the screenshot).

That white column takes up unnecessary screen estate. I have never seen that before.

In the white column, pages created under the main dashboard do show up.

BUT

2. Pages created in the Dashboard → Pages do not appear in the menu of #1 above. In the past they did.

Pages created under Appearance → Edit → Pages do not show up here.

So:

1. Did WP change this?
2. Or has WP become unstable?
